By WALTER M. BARRETT

With the fishing season well under way in this district, the time is ripe for the annual subscription, necessary to perpetuate the sport on the Truckee river. Truckee this year will be asked to share with the San Francisco Fly Casting Club the expense of raising a sufficient number of trout to restock the stream which is now undergoing its annual invasion by hundreds of nimrods from all parts of the country. The value of fishing in this area is unquestioned and local businessmen and other residents should not hesitate to participate freely in the program.

The boys at the Truckee checking station on two occasions during the past week have been instrumental in the apprehension of accused criminals and have again proved their value as guardians of the border. A nationally sought bad-check artist and a man and woman wanted for robbing a Colfax inn and stealing a car at Petaluma were nabbed through the efforts of the crew at the station.

We never had the pleasure of knowing Bill Topp, but his many friends have offered such high praise for him that we do not hesitate in voicing our deepest regrets for his untimely death and extend to his wife and friends our sincere sympathy.

We drove up the north end of the lake the other day and, couldn't help but marvel at the strides of progress being taken there. On every side new homes and resorts are being erected for permanency and despite the early season business is already on the upturn and the resort owners are scurrying about making preparations for their biggest season. We visited briefly at Cal-Vada, where the newly furnished hotel and bar offer an urban atmosphere in the midst of rugged mountains. The Buckhorn, Bacchi's, Freeman's Inn and the Log Cabin were visited. Like other places on the lake, these resorts are expanding and will offer patrons more and better entertainment.

Reno Doctor Is Charged As Two Hurt In Crash

Roseville Women Injured as Cars Collide On Highway

DINING ROOM AT RICHARDSON'S IS RAZED BY FLAMES

Loss Estimated at $35,000 As Incendiarism Is Hinted

SECOND WITHIN YEAR

New Structures Under Way To Care For Summer Business

RICHARDSON'S CAMP, May 13.—Fire, believed of incendiary origin, early Friday morning burned to the ground the two story, frame building housing the dining room at Richardson's Camp. The loss was tentatively fixed at $35,000.

A number of chairs and tables and the contents of the post office were salvaged.

Awakened by the barking of a dog around 2 a. m., Bud Richardson was the first to discover the blaze which was then out of control.

Ranger Ralleggh Bryan from Meyers Station and his men and Ranger Lee Hill of the Bay View station were summoned by telephone and were on the scene shortly after the alarm was turned in and it was only through their effort that the fire was prevented from spreading to the new store and hotel buildings now being rushed to completion for summer. Only a distance of 100 feet or more separated the new $100,000 investment from the flames.

The emergency pressure fire truck holding 800 gallons of water, fortunately stood close by and was quickly manned and put into operation.

Plenty of water was available the local supply being turned into the truck. An unnamed hero wet a large blanket and threw it over himself, carrying the hose directly into the path of the fire, the heat from which was so intense as to burn many of the lovely pines which beautify the grounds.

The Richardsons feel the fire was of incendiary origin, but did not elaborate on their statements. The insurance carrier would not replace the new range just installed this spring, Richardson said.

Mrs. Richardson was confined to her bed under the care of relatives and was on the verge of a nervous collapse.

The new 34-room hotel is now being rushed to completion. It will contain a large lobby, with all rooms steam heated and with shower and bath. A new restaurant will be erected for summer service, according to present plans.

Carpenter Dies From Broken Neck In Tumble Off Building

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at the home in Tahoe City for William Topp, 39, of Tahoe Cedar, who was almost instantly killed in a fall while working on a new building near Tahoe City Monday.

Rev. P. H. Willis of Sparks, will conduct the funeral rites and the Laity Funeral Home of Truckee will have charge of the detail. Burial will be in the little cemetery at Tahoe on the brow of the hill overlooking the golf links.

Topp, a resident of the Tahoe district for more than 10 years, slipped from the new house of Otto Rempfer in Lake Forest and broke his neck. He lived only a few minutes.

"I can't feel anything from my neck down," he told a fellow workman, just before he expired.

Ernest Panelli, who entered the yard to deliver gas, summoned neighbors, who telephone for Dr. C. B. Pedersen. Topp succumbed before the doctor arrived.

A few years ago, the deceased was married to Miss Florence Ford, of San Jose, and the couple were ideally happy. He had just added a kitchen to their cozy little home in Tahoe Cedars, where he and Mrs. Topp were to have moved around June 1.

Man, Wife Arrested in Reno After Advise From Truckee

Coordination between the officers of the state highway patrol and the men employed at the Truckee checking station, Monday resulted in the apprehension in Reno of a couple sought in connection with the robbery of a Colfax inn and the theft of a car belonging to a Petaluma man.

Advised by Colfax officer that the robbers, a man and a woman, were headed this way, Clerk Frank Carson, who was on duty shortly after midnight, saw a man acting in a suspicious manner alight from a car at the nearby service station.

Carson telephone Patrolman Art Barrick, but when that officer reached the scene, the car had departed. A call was placed for the Reno police and the machine was nabbed there. Later investigation revealed that the machine had been stolen from Americo Roberto of Petaluma, Barrick reported.

The arrested couple gave their names as Lewis Lore, 24, and Lorraine Lore, 19, both of Hamilton Field.

CHECK PASSER IS NABBED HERE BY LOCAL OFFICERS

Wanted In Several States On Charges of Passing Checks

HELD BY GOVERNMENT

Couple Sought For Months Nabbed By Truckee Checkers

Since early in February Edwin A. Schreiber, 43, and his companion, Lois Willoughby, 32, evaded arrest in several states on charges of passing worthless checks totaling huge sums. Then they attempted to pass the California border at Truckee and their trail ended abruptly.

Suspecting the couple because of a slight discrepancy in the ownership card on the car, Clerk Sarge Clark summoned his chief, Carl Smith and Schreiber was detained until Patrolman George Haines of the Placer County squad arrived to conduct the investigation.

A checkup on recent teletype messages showed that a couple answering the description of Schreiber and Mrs. Willoughby were sought in New Orleans for passing a worthless check in payment for the late model high-priced car which they were driving. A search of Schreiber's personal effects, revealed $123.43 in cash, $190 in allegedly stolen and forged American Express money orders and a dozen blank checks on several New Orleans banks.

Under questioning, Schreiber admitted issuing the fictitious checks and the theft of the money orders in a Chicago drug store.

"It's bad enough to write bad checks without lying," Schreiber declared when questioned concerning his recent activities.

Later information disclosed the fact that Schreiber answered the description of a man wanted in Texas for issuing worthless checks in the amount of $1600.

Schreiber was turned over to the federal authorities and faces charges of violating the Mann act, the Dyer act and issuing worthless checks.

Mrs. Willoughby admitted, officers said that she was married and has two children, the oldest 17.

Schreiber said he was a graduate pharmacist from one of the biggest universities in the country.

THE FISCAL SCENE SHIFTS

And now the fiscal scene in California shifts from the state capitol to the various local governments, where, through the months of May, June, July and August, they'll be figuring what our property tax rates will be for the 1937-38 period.

One county has already announced a tentative conclusion, an increase of a few cents. And that isn't very encouraging.

Officials generally have been pictured in recent years as long-nosed crepe hangers or money mad tax grabbers. People do realize however that they are human, and that they are squeezed painfully between their own desire to make good through light taxation, and the clamoring of seekers after public moneys.

So no one expects superhuman accomplishments. All the taxpayer asks is that the official face this rate-making business with courage and sense of responsibility.

Conditions are such, this year, that a general lowering of rates should be possible. Returining prosperity is bringing in greater revenues from existing levies. Nearly a billion dollars worth of public utility property was turned back to local assessment rolls by the state two years ago, and the taxpayers are still waiting relief expected from this.

Substantial reductions can be accomplished if men in government tackle the job resolutely and with a determination to do the greatest good for the greatest number of citizens.

THE COURT ON COMMUNISM

It may have shocked some people when the other day the Supreme Court ruled that Georgia could not imprison a man for being a communist organizer.

But they need not be shocked or even worried. The court was not weakening, but rather was strengthening democracy's defenses by upholding the right of any person to speak his opinions freely—even wrong opinions. For if ever we lose liberty in this country, it will not be because some "ism" doctrine, as such, will have been sold to us or forced on us either by bullets or ballots.

It will be, if ever, because we shall have gradually let our nation evolve into something we never intended it to be. We should be concerned more with our mistakes than with the preparations of puny enemies.

View with concern, then, such things as threatened inflation, which, if it came, would indeed put democracy on the spot. View with concern such things as congress' mistakes, which may yet throw the nation's biggest industry into government ownership. And this industry, the railroads, was already regulated to death. View with concern all manner of errors that lead us away from the intended goals and ideals of democracy.

HEAVEN'S BRANCH OFFICE

Although the main office of heaven is still Harlem, where Father "I-an-god" Divine holds forth between trips to court on a stabbing charge, a branch office of the negro valhalla is opening in California this week.

But Californians are not particularly overjoyed by the "god's" plan to bring a colony of dusky adherents to run the lumber mill he just bought north on Ukiah. However, they may not be worried long. "God" seems to be having financial troubles which might not permit him to keep his holding or work on them.

Only the other day on of his "mission houses" in New York was put on the auction block because he failed to keep up payments on a $3000 loan from the HOLC. His source of funds has been long a mystery, but reputedly inexhaustible. The goose that laid the golden eggs must have died.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—(UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam's strategy in altering the 1937-39 budget bill to meet his own beliefs and winning a skirmish with the democratic controlled assembly was modeled after a similar plan used by Friend W. Richardson when he was governor of California.

In those days, Merriam was the speaker of the assembly, and he remembered the budget episode. He also remembered how Governor C. C. Young handled the budget when Merriam was a state senator.

Democratic leaders thought they had maneuvered "a smart on" when they changed the budget. And they did manage to force all assemblymen to record their stand on every item altered by the legislature and changed back by the governor. When it was all over and the $438,000,000 budget was enacted, the democrats at least were in a position to claim the credit for reducing the original document by $8,000,000.

So far as that was concerned, however, it meant no saving in state expenses because special appropriation bills were introduced to replace it's difficult to tell whether the old war between the states is being refought, or whether it's still the newer war between the A. F. L. and the C. I. O. in the split ranks of labor.

Until this week it seemed to be the latter, with organizers from the two groups competing for members in the textile industry. Then an A. F. L. organizer, himself not a southerner, framed a slogan which inadvertently set off the fireworks.

"We are truly marching through Georgia with the A. F. L. banner high," he said.

To the south, of course, "marching through Georgia" means General Sherman's invasion which laid waste the heart of the south. That organizer must have skipped a few chapters when he read "Gone with the Wind."

the items trimmed from the budget. Special appropriations and measures requiring financial expenditures may exceed $25,000,000 in addition to the budget, and the final outlay of state expenses will depend upon how many of these bills are signed by the governor.

The budget skirmish between the democrats and the administration convinced any skeptics that Gov. Merriam had not devoted a lifetime to politics without learning most of the tricks of the trade.

Predictions last January that this legislature would be one of the most liberal in California's history haven't been borne out in all respects, although passage of the Garrison revenue bond bill and the Olson tideland oil drilling measure were considered definitely in the

BACCHI EXPANDS IN RESORT TO OPEN ON SATURDAY EVE

LAKE FOREST, May 13.—Approximately $2000 has been spent at Bacchi's Lake Forest Italian restaurant this spring in remodeling and refurnishing dining rooms and kitchen. C. D. Jumper installed the fine 18-foot rustic log finish bar in the north end of the former dining room. An arch now divides the cocktail lounge from the separate dining room where private parties may be held. Deqr heads and squirrel aid in achieving the rustic polished log ceiling replaced one.

Frank Harden, well known local man, will have charge of the bar which will be stocked with the best popular brands.

Mrs. Olga Harden will assist in preparing and serving and will act in the capacity of hostess. Mrs. George Bacchi will be in charge of the ranges where delicious home cooked meals are prepared. A private dining room for the working men is an innovation this year. See the ad in today's paper for announcement of the formal opening.

What is the "Low-price Field"?

YOU hear a lot about "the low-price field" these days. A good many cars claim to be in it.

So whenever the low-price field is mentioned, remember:

Until Ford came, no average American could own a car.

Today all Ford prices are still low—with the prices of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 $30 to $60 lower than those of any other car of comparable size.

But with Ford, "low price" doesn't merely mean low figures on the price tag. It means much more than that. It means low prices and low costs all the car's long life. Low prices for service—for parts—and, above all, for operation.

Both Ford V-8 engine sizes are economical to operate. The 85 horsepower gives greater gasoline mileage this year than ever, and the "60" delivers the highest mileage in Ford history.

Private owners, cab companies, fleet operators all report that the "60" averages from 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Check and see how much Ford saves you.

Gleaned From The Bright Side of Life

By SARGE CLARK and

Bernice, my waitress friend, and I were hobnobbing the other morning while I inhaled my mush, and in the course of the conversation, I happened to make that ancient crack: "Vos you dere, Sharley?"

"You know, Sarge, every period has some crack like that which is on everybody's tongue," opined Bernice. "I'll bet two bits I can name them as far back as 1900, and I'm not anywhere near that old either. "I'll take that bet old dear," said I, getting out some paper and pencil. "Let's go."

"All right—I'll pitch and you catch," was her snappy comeback. And here's what she fired at me. "Are there any more at home like you—1900; Go way back and sit down—1902; You're the candy kid—1902; How old is Ann?—1903; In a pig's eye you did—1904; Bats in the belfry—1905; Oh, you kid—1906; Twenty-three, skidoo—1907; Go chase yourself—1908; Who's looney now?—1911; You know me Steve—1912; Yes, yes, go on—1913; Ain't you the berries?—1916; To hell with the Kaiser!—1917; Razzberries—1921; Yes we have no bananas—1923; So's your old man—1925; So I took the fifty thousand—1926; Applesauce—1927; And how—1928; Faw down and go boom—1929; Oh yeah?—1930; Ballyhoo—1931; Horsefeathers—1932; "Want me to keep on, Sarge?"

THIRTY

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—(UP)—Joe Nolan, lantern-jawed sergeant-at-arms of the senate, finally has found a way to keep members of the upper house from reverting to their second childhood and "playing hooky."

Early in the session, a "call of the house" found members disappearing mysteriously. Incidentally, a "call" means that the doors are locked so that all members are kept inside the chamber and assistant sergeants are sent out to look for missing senators.

It finally developed that members were crawling out a nearby window walking onto the convenient balcony and then going to the main capitol corridor by means of an adjacent room.

Nolan discovered the ruse; stationed men at the door leading to the corridor, and then accompanied the red faced senators back to their respective desks in the chamber.

This Week At The State Capitol

By Jack Welter

United Press Staff Correspondent
SACRAMENTO, May 13.—(UP)—Final passage of the $438,000,000 budget bill during the 10th week of the California legislature's spring session left the way open today for the final drive to adjournment.

Signed by the governor, who deleted some 32 changes written into the huge biennial appropriation bill by the legislature, the measure went back to the assembly where democrats failed to obtain a two-thirds majority to override the governor's revisions.

The approved measure carried intact the administration's original relief allocation. Democrats had sought to earmark approximately $7,266,550 of this amount for capital improvements.

Final budget passage unleashed a deluge of appropriations measures which had been held up pending its approval. Among those approved by the senate was a measure to appropriate $1,445,888 for the University of California, in addition to the budgeted funds. Of this amount $45,000 would go toward experiments and research in an attempt to perfect a smokeless orchard heater to replace present smudge pots.

The assembly ways and means committee gave its recommendation to other such measures aggregating $4,715,738.

Another measure enacted into a law during the week was Senator James B. Holohan's lethal gas bill, which abolishes the noose and provides that hereafter California will execute condemned slayer swiftly and painlessly with hydro-cyanic gas. Barring successful appeals or executive clemency, it was believed 10 men now awaiting death at San Quentin and Folsom prisons would be the last to be hanged by the state, which never has executed a woman.

The governor also signed the Rosenthal bill, which extends for two years the current mortgage moratorium.

Labor took severe drubbing on four fronts. The senate labor and capital committee refused to approve the Yorty "little Wagner act." The assembly's response was to send the Crittenden labor relations board bill back to committee, where it was likely to remain until the upper house moves to act on the Yorty measure, observers believed.

While the senate was passing a bill classifying sit-down strikers as vagrants, the assembly defeated a proposal to place strikers automatically on relief at the outset of a walkout.

Tax relief and old age pension issues occupied legislators, also, but remained to be disposed of finally before adjournment is accomplished.

The senate revenue and taxation committee refused to send to the floor a bill proposing to cut the sales tax from 3 to 2½ per cent. The committee also held back the Hunt bill to exempt restaurants from the tax. It was estimated enactment of the two measures would cut $42,000,000 biennially from the state revenues.

Delayed by dilatory legislative budget action, the old age pension issue finally hit the legislature full stride. The assembly passed unanimously AB No. 1, by Assemblyman William Hornblower and 45 others. The bill would permit a slide income of $15 a month and homeownership, provided real property holdings did not exceed $3,000. The $35 pension rate and the 65-year age requirement would be unchanged.

A second old age pension bill, sponsored by Assemblyman John Pelletier, proposing $50 monthly pensions and a 60-year age requirement, also awaited legislative action.

Pelletier's proposal would cost the state more than $50,000,000 annually and counties a similar amount. Hornblower's it was estimated, would cost approximately $5,000,000. It was predicted the huge financial outlay required by Pelletier's bill would defeat it, despite favorable committee action.

While the assembly judiciary code committee was moving to make marriage easier, the legislature sent to the governor a measure which would add incompatibility to the list of causes of divorce. Assembly judiciary codes committee approved a measure which would repeal California's three-day "gin marriage" law. Too many Californians, sponsors contended, go to Reno, Yuma and other points, to be wed.

Executive action on the budget and lethal gas bills left half a dozen important issues awaiting gubernatorial sanction or veto. Among the unfinished business before the governor was the Olson tideland oil bill, one of the most controversial issues of the session; a measure to open grand jury hearings to the public; the so-called "supervisors' relief bill," turning relief administration over to counties, and a measure imposing a three-cent tax on diesel fuel oil burned in passenger vehicles. Another would establish the period during which Klamath river pollution by mine operators would be permitted.

RESORTS PREPARE FOR SUMMER RUSH; CAL-VADA EXPANDS

(By SWANEE)

TAHOE CITY, May 13.— With the opening of real spring weather this correspondent began the regular tour of the Lake Tahoe district. Everywhere indications point to an exceptionally busy and prolific year.

At the Log Cabin in Tahoe City we found Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reisel of Las Vegas in the midst of spring housecleaning, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Tony Franklin. The Cabin will be operated under the active management of Mr. Reisel who with his business associate, Johnny Rayburn, will also be responsible for the success of Buckhorn Inn and Cal Vada Lodge this summer.

The Log Cabin is open now for business but will hold a gala formal opening around Decoration Day, the date to be announced later. Only the finest stock of liquors will be carried and every effort expended by Mr. and Mrs. Reisel to make the visits of patrons thoroughly enjoyable. Light plate lunches will be served again this year and excellent dance music will be provided.

I was agreeably surprised upon entering the Buckhorn Inn to note the remodeling and improvements which have allowed this popular resort a far more spacious dance floor than previously. Many declare the bar here to be the finest on the lake.

Joe Peralto, known to his many friends as "Honest Joe", has been promoted to the rank of manager of the Buckhorn this year. His two assistants will be Ken Corbett and Sparkie Young of Reno.

Roy Kelly, well known at Tahoe as the "Doughnut Man", with the assistance of his wife, will operate the coffee shop. A new Frigidaire has been installed and the Kellys promise no finer food will be available. Their specialty will be steak and chicken dinners and home-made pies. Best quality liquors and foods will be used exclusively.

At Cal Vada, Manager Johnny Rayburn, who graciously piloted me about was justly proud of the new two-story annex being rushed to completion which will accommodate Elegantly furnished is the Cal Vada hotel itself, each spacious suite a model of luxury and comfort. Deep plush carpets, colorful drapes and softly tinted woodwork blend harmoniously with the modernistic Monterey furniture and beamed ceilings. Large windows offer the visitor glimpses of Tahoe's vivid blue water and green forests. No modern convenience has been overlooked. Bath rooms in pale orchid and green with hand painted motifs in soft effective patterns adorning the walls.

Cal-Vada is open and ready for the grand rush of business which has been freely predicted for the lake region this summer.

All furnishings in the hotel were purchased from D. Cabona in Truckee.

Outgoing mail, however, will continue to leave Tahoe post office at 4:30 p. m. until the Southern Pacific trains resume their regular summer schedule. This will be a few days prior to the opening of the Tavern which date has been tentatively set for June 26 this year.

Mr. and Mrs. George Farley, formerly of Sacramento, are expected at Tahoe on Saturday. Mr. Farley will assume charge of Nichter's modern Lake Forest auto repair shop. The Nichters will run up to Tahoe for the week ends.

KINGS BEACH, May 13. Residents of Brockway Vista no longer call their section by that name, we learned on Saturday. King's Beach is the new and preferred title, a post office having been granted them this year. Notable improvements are evident on all sides, with a new two-story Payne's Mercantile store rapidly rising on the site of the old building. Mr. King is also remodeling Nelson's Garage, an addition of 45 by 25 to house a greases lift, office, rest rooms and storage space all well under way.

Down the highway a block from Nelson's on the opposite side of the street has risen Freeman's Inn and cottages, a new entertainment spot propitiated by the popular Mr. and Mrs. Chick Freeman and their son Chick, Jr. The latter who entertained all winter at the Rex club in Sacramento, is versatile and mixes tasty concoctions for thirsty customers between songs for which he twangs his own accompaniment on the guitar. A large dance floor provides for dancers with Bill Moshier, famous pianist at the keyboard. The dining room is now open and offers patrons excellent cuisine.

builder of Kings Beach on a warrant sworn to by the state building department and charging violation of the contractor's license law and workmens compensation insurance provisions. Burt pleaded not guilty to the charge and was released on $100 bail. His trial was fixed for Friday, May 14 before Justice of the Peace George Bliss.

Charlie Pick, local electrician, has arrived at Tahoe for the summer having spent the winter at San Anselmo.

Miss Barbara Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips of Sandy Beach, who will graduate this June from the Castlemont high school in Oakland will join her parents for the summer around the first of June.

Patrolman Visits Here— State Patrolman Gene Walker of the Placer County squad, accompanied by his nephew, Buddy Walker, both of Rocklin, visited in the Lake Tahoe and Truckee regions last Tuesday. Walker, who is stationed at the lake during the summer, is scheduled to resume his beat there in two weeks.

Officers on Trip— State Patrolman Art Barrick and Deputy Sheriff Tom Dolley were in Grass Valley and Nevada City on Tuesday.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

by industrialists and others, apparently stymied all bills designed to give the state some authority to attempt negotiating strike settlements. The assembly declined to consider and senate labor relations bills so long as the Yorty measure, sponsored by the lower house members, made no progress in the senate.
Petty jealousies, partisan feeling, and political maneuvering played an important part in determining the fate of many bills.
For example, Assemblyman Gene Plint, democratic chairman of the assembly labor and capital committee, openly refused to consider any senate bills "until we see what they do with ours."
It was rumored that Senator Roy J. Nielsen, republican, voted against

NEW POLICE BOOK TELLS CAPITAL OFFICERS WHEN MAN IS INTOXICATED

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—(UP)—
Is a man hanging to the lamppost, teetering slightly, a trifle intoxicated? The Sacramento police will consult the rule book.
Chief of Police Austin J. Roche issued a booklet describing intoxication, its causes and symptoms.
It offers the following tests which officers may apply to suspects whose systems have not been able to oxidize the alcohol fast enough to prevent adverse action on the brain tissue:
"Can he (or she) stand on one foot? . . . pick a coin from the floor without staggering? . . . touch the end of his nose with his forefinger?
Is he weepy? . . . boisterous? . . .
belligerent? . . . stupid? . . . unconscious?"

the Yorty bill after a committee discussion because Senator Culbert L. Olson, democrat, had moved weeks before to return Nielsen's revenue bond bill to committee.
Olson was handling the Yorty bill in the senate and there appeared to be no love lost between the senators.

Senate committee members showed open hostility toward democratic assemblymen who presented bills.
Democratic assemblymen looked with suspicion upon bills introduced by republican senators.

Whereas most bills go to the governor within a day or two after they are passed by both houses, the Olson tideland oil bill did not reach the governor's office officially for five days. Reports were current that this was part of a plot to delay it as long as possible in an effort to get the O'Donnell tideland drilling ratification bill down to the governor before the executive had to act on the Olson measure.

Generally unbiased observers who have "covered" numerous sessions report this conclave as "one of the screwiest on record."

Other sidelights: certain lobbyists have worked openly on the floor of both houses and made no effort to conceal the fact they were backing measures which legislative authors insisted were free from lobby interest and drawn solely for the purpose of aiding the state and its people; open trading of votes in the assembly has reached the point where one veteran members, a democrat, remarked: "I've quit trying to feel out the members on my bills.
Whenever I do, they respond with:
'I'll vote for that if you'll vote for mine.' It's the same principle as offering money for votes. I never saw so much trading, and certainly never so much open activity along that line."

Electric Service With Safety

It is common knowledge that electricity is perfectly safe when properly used.

There are certain rules which should be observed to keep it safe at all times.

Wiring which was safe five years ago may not be safe today—due to the ever increasing use that is being made each year.

It cost you nothing to satisfy yourself that your wiring is safe.

Call your local electrician and tell him to give your wiring a thorough inspection and report to you any needed changes— He will do it for you FREE OF CHARGE.
